Immovable object & Irresistible Force Planning Board girds for long war

The war between the Wilmington Board of Selectmen and the Wilmington Planning Board, over Washington Avenue extension, which the Town Crier has labeled the Immovable Object & the Irresistible Force, has entered a new phase.

The Wilmington Planning Board wants to connect a road in Glen Acres, a real estate development off Glen Road to Washington Avenue via Washington Avenue extension. The Wilmington Board of Selectmen is adamantly opposed.

Monday the Board of Selectmen caused a fence to be erected, so as to prevent automobile traffic from Glen Acres onto Washington Avenue extension, this after getting permission from residents of Washington Avenue extension so that the selectmen could not be accused of trespassing.

Tuesday evening the Planning Board countered by deciding on a long range action, in which the voters in the annual March meeting in 1976 will be asked to consider an article to connect Washington Avenue to Glen Acres at no cost to the town.

The money for constructing the street will come from the bond that builder Jay Tighe had to put up, for bonding construction of roads in Glen Acres.

There was a long discussion of the possibilities among the Planning Board members, and with Jay Tighe and his attorney, Joe Courtney. The Planning Board has a bond of over $80,000 from Mr. Tighe, to guarantee construction of the roads in the Glen Acres development.

Tighe was present to ask for a return of some of the money in that bond so that he could pay firms which had been working on the construction of roads and sidewalks. About 80% of the projected road work was done, the Planning Board was told. He was asking for a return of $15,500.

At one point Courtney declared

"If there is such a thing as a double impossibility, that is what this has become."

The Planning Board very carefully read over the written opinion of Town Counsel. That opinion says they have the right to insist on roads for purposes of traffic and safety, the board noted. They also acknowledged that they could not force Jay Tighe to "trespass" on property of others, at the Washington Avenue extension.

So Bob Higgins, Town Engineer, was instructed to determine the cost of constructing a road for Washington Avenue extension, and for constructing a cul-de-sac at the end of Gandolfo Drive.

That money is to be set aside, from the bond of Mr. Tighe, to construct the cul-de-sac on a temporary basis, and if the March 1976 Town Meeting so votes, to construct Washington Avenue from Glen Acres to Stone Street, a distance of about 300 feet.

Arthur Harding, chairman of the Planning Board stated that if the money is set aside the new residents of Glen Acres, plus the Glen Road residents who have expressed a desire for a connecting road will vote for a new Washington Avenue extension in March, 1976.

The Town Engineer, Mr. Higgins, said he had not talked with any of the town officials of the dangers reported at the intersection of Washington Avenue and Clark Street, and thus did not know their views.

It was his opinion that at the intersection of Washington Avenue between Stone Street and Glen Acres was constructed, then the entire street should be reconstructed to Clark Street.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BAND

WHA has ordered MBTA bus

The Wilmington Housing Authority, Monday night, wrote a letter to the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, ordering one used MBTA bus for the agreed sum of $35.

The bus, in the present thinking, is to provide transportation for the senior citizens of Wilmington, including those of the Denning Way Housing Project. Chairman George Hooper has said it should probably cost about $5,000 a year to operate, i.e. for a driver, and that there might be a discussion about this in a town meeting. No bus schedules have been planned, as yet.

READING LIGHT'S NORBERT RHINERSON: At the Wilmington Housing Authority meeting. At right is Barbara Larson of the WHA.

The billing system of the apartments at Denning Way, for electricity, is to be changed. The Authority had a long meeting, Monday night, with Norbert Rhinerson, general manager of Reading Light.

There are at present 43 light meters, which are read and billed monthly. This will be changed to one meter, for the Housing Authority, and the individual bills will be pro-rated for the tenants by the WHA.

The difficulty which this will settle has been because of the leaks which occur in the various building

Pat White elected

The PBC is a hot subject

Mrs. Pat White of 30 Nassau Avenue was elected a member of the Wilmington Permanent Building Committee, Monday night, by a combined vote of the Board of Selectmen and Town Manager, a vote of four to two.

Mrs. White may find that she has friends on that committee, and she may find the contrary. As of Monday night, a few moments after the end of the selectmen's meeting she seemed not to have any. Since then Chairman Jim Miceli of the Board of Selectmen thinks that things have "calmed down a little."

There were really several meetings, Monday night, about the PBC, following the resignation of Bob Michelson, 12 year member, last Thursday.

The Board of Selectmen took up the subject at about 10 minutes past 10. The Permanent Building Committee and the Wilmington School Committee had a long meeting, behind closed doors, in the Roman House. It is understood that the architect who works for the PBC was present. Other than that nothing is known of what transpired in the Roman House meeting.

There were differences of opinion among the Selectmen, too. Two voted for Al Blackburn, rather than Mrs. White, those two being Mr. Miceli and Mr. Banda. After the vote George Boylen voiced an opinion that the town should get rid of the Permanent Building Committee, in the next special Town Meeting. If the Board of Selectmen were not ready to sponsor an article, Boylen said, he would get ten citizens to do so.

Outside the Town Hall, two minutes after the meeting had closed Chairman Miceli and the Town Manager were confronted by an angry Arthur Smith, chairman of the PBC. First he asked who had been elected, and then he announced that if Mrs. White were to be on the PBC the "entire committee" would quit. No reason was given for the threat to quit.

Mrs. White, who is 31 years old, is a magna cum laude graduate of Tufts University, and has been a teacher in Tewksbury and in Lompoc, California. Her husband Donald is a Section Chief, Air Pollution branch, Environmental Protection Agency, with offices in the Kennedy building in Boston. He is currently also serving on the Dump Study Committee for Wilmington.

"I don't think they understand me," Mrs. White told the Town Crier. "I don't see that we have any problem in working together."

Mrs. White has been attending the meetings of the PBC regularly since last December. She had participated in a League of Women Voters study of the school space needs, and had become convinced that Wilmington had a need for additional school space.

Last spring she wrote a letter to the Board of Selectmen offering herself as a candidate if there were a vacancy in the Permanent Building Committee. She said in her letter that she thought it would be advantageous to the town to have a person committed to education, and with a variety of experience in school settings.

Among other items she pointed out that she would be available in Wilmington during the regular business day, that she had studied engineering during one year in college, and that she could devote part of her time to distributing voter information on the school building projects.

$350,000 awarded to WHA for 705 Program

JUDSON D. HALE
TO ADDRESS WILMINGTON
WOMEN'S CLUB

Judson D. Hale, editor of Yankee Magazine will address the Wilmington Women's Club meeting on Thursday, November 21 at 1:45 pm.

Mr. Hale's remarks will be preceded by a business meeting presentation of new members and dessert beginning at 12:15 at the United Methodist Church.

Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars has been awarded to the Wilmington Housing Authority for the purpose of completing a 705 Program in Wilmington. The award comes from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, through the Department of Community Affairs.

A 705 program is one in which a local housing authority buys private homes, at scattered sites, which are adjudged as being suitable for housing for low income families, disabled persons, etc.

The Massachusetts DCA has already approved the purchase of four homes, using 705 funds, in Wilmington. Other sites are under investigation.

Officer Cuoco gets a check

The Town of Wilmington received a check for approximately $200 Monday morning. It was a surprise to the Treasurer.

The check was to pay for broken windows, in the Glen Road School. The windows were broken last Saturday, at about 9:30 pm.

Five youths were involved. They were driving around looking for "something to do," and the driveway leading to the Glen Road School looked as though "something to do" might be found at the other end. The driver was sixteen, and had a license. All the others were about fourteen. They live near each other, and not in Wilmington.

Down in the parking lot, out of sight from other cars that might be on Glen Road the five youths scolded down to a little serious drinking. This led to more ideas about fun, and they started smashing windows, and having a heck of a good time.

Officer Jimmy Cuoco was in the neighborhood, and he drove down to look over the school, as he frequently does while on duty. This time Jimmy struck - well, call it pay dirt.

He drove down without headlights. When he was fifty feet from the school he turned on the headlights, and there, clearly to be seen, was a fourteen year old, smashing the window of the principal's office with a stick. The youth ran, but Jimmy caught him within 50 feet. The others ran too, two of them into the woods.

Jimmy got them all. The only one he could charge with breaking windows was the one he had seen doing his little act. Not only that, the young fellow had broken pieces of glass and putty in his pocket. The others, three of them that is, were arrested for drinking.

Capturing the window breaker was only a part of the story. Jimmy went to the Superintendent of Public Buildings, to get the cost of replacing the windows. Then there was a conference with proper town officials and the dad of the boy that Jimmy had caught.

The dad turned out to be a pretty decent fellow. He did not know what his boy was up to, but he offered to pay the cost, and then settle on his own with the youngster.

Jimmy, for the town, accepted a check for about $200, and Monday morning he turned it over to the Treasurer of the Town of Wilmington.

There is still the business of drinking on school property, which is against the law in Wilmington. Jimmy is going to take that up with the remaining dads - or it will be trip to Woburn Court.

JEFF WILLETT WILL ATTEND EQUIPMENT OPERATOR SCHOOL

Jeff M. Willett, Navy Constructionman Recruit, of 36 Aldrich Road, Wilmington has been scheduled to report to the Equipment Operator A School, at Port Hueneme, California.

Campfire meeting next Thursday

The monthly meeting for Campfire leaders and sponsors will be held on Thursday November 21st at 10 am in the Wilmington Public Library.

At this meeting, all leaders should bring the foods from their girls for the needy, as this will be delivered later on, the same day. Leaders unable to attend the last meeting may find out what food they are to offer by calling Cathy Piretti.

DROP-IN CENTER HAS MOVED

The Senior Citizen's Drop-In Center at Wilmington Plaza has moved and is now located two doors away from where it was originally. It is now between Radio Shack and the barber shop. At this time it is thought that the phone number will remain the same.

Wooden poles probable for real estate projects

Four years ago last July the Wilmington Planning Board voted that all electric wiring for new real estate developments should go underground. Since then there have been four or five residential developments, and two industrial developments. The areas involved have their electric power, thanks to the underground facilities, but there has been a distinct hold-up in getting street lights.

Presumably aluminum poles were planned, but that is now out, for residential developments. Specifications adopted by the Planning Board Tuesday evening say that there will be wooden poles in the housing developments, and aluminum poles in the industrial developments.

Four hundred watt lights will be used in industrial developments. These lights will cost the town $250 a year.

In residential developments the lights will be 100 watt, and will cost the town $135 a year.

By comparison, the charge for regular street lights, in Wilmington, is $49 a year.

Carpenters and builders speak a language of their own. The terms used are words of the trade, and each has a specific meaning that usually refers to a unit of measure, the quality grade of the material, or a method of application.

For example, "strapping a wall" is a method of application used to fasten strips of lumber about three quarters of an inch thick, three inches wide, by various lengths, to a basement wall to provide a nailing base for wall panels to finish off a game room.

We speak your language. If you have a question on the products we carry or need advice on how to do a job, don't hesitate to ask any of the people at SWEENEY HOME COURTESY CENTER, 615 Main St., Wilmington, 658-2001. We are here to help you. Stop by and see our display of paneling including Wildwood, Georgia Pacific, Abitibi, Royacolor and Barclay. There is still plenty of time to get your home fitted up before the busy holiday season. Open: Daily from 9 am to 5 pm and Thursdays until 9 pm.

Mrs Roy T. Anderson

Deborah Marie McGondel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. McGondel of 117 Federal St., Wilmington recently became the bride of Roy T. Anderson, son of Jess Anderson and Ann Anderson of 89 West St., Wilmington.

Father Francis Mackin performed the ceremony at St. Thomas Church.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was radiant in a full length tiered lace gown with long laced puffed sleeves. Her bodice was trimmed in rhinestones and her long white tiered veil fell from a matching headpiece. She carried a cascade of chrysanthemums and pink roses.

Carol McGondel served her sister of maids of honor in a pink lace tiered gown. She wore a matching crown bow with attached red roses and carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bridesmaids were attired in gowns similar to that worn by the maid of honor in rainbow colors including lime green, baby blue, yellow and apricot. They wore matching headpieces and carried bouquets of rainbow roses.

Serving as senior bridesmaids were Paula Capps of Tewksbury, cousin of the bride; Robin Downs of Wilmington; Debra Anderson, sister of the groom, of Wilmington and junior bridesmaids included, Grace McGondel, sister of the bride; were Grace, Susan and Lorraine McGondel, sisters of the bride.

Linda Anderson sister of the groom served as flower girl in a gown styled like that worn by the maid of honor in blue lace. She carried a basket of blue daisies.

Ringbearer was John Anderson, brother of the groom.

Malcom Anderson served his brother as best man while ushering duties were in charge of David, Thomas and George McGondel, brothers of the bride and Paul Lyman, Kevin Downs, Dennis Anderson and Bruce Anderson.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McGondel chose a maine chiffon gown trimmed in seeded pearls and rhinestones. The groom's mother was attired in an apricot crepe gown.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Billerica Elks Hall where Mrs. Barbara Kearney circulated the guest book.

Following a wedding trip through New Hampshire, the couple is now living in Lawrence.

What is the PBC?

The Permanent Building Committee of Wilmington, center of present controversial arguments, is a creation of the town, to supervise the construction of schools and other public buildings. It was created in 1955 or 1956, shortly after the Town Crier had stolen the then current plans for the construction of a school at the site of the present Glen Road School.

The committee in charge were nice fellows, but the architect was taking them and the town for a sleigh ride. The Town Crier stole the plans and published them. The result was a Town Meeting in which the committee was discharged, and the creation of the Permanent Building Committee. (The Town Crier for publishing those plans was awarded its first Community Service Award by the New England Press Association).

The new committee, appointed by the selectmen and town manager acting together, was in theory to have five persons with overlapping terms of office, none of whom would serve more than two terms. In that way the town could get the benefit of experience, without having any one member serve too long.

Among the first appointees were Joseph Courtney, now one of Wilmington's most prestigious attorneys; Paul Niles, later a selectman, and now one of the top executives of the Mitre Corporation; and Paul Hanke, then and now an engineer for Raytheon.

The committee came up with some theories which were radical for that day and time.

1. Build a series of schools around town, especially for the first six grades, so as to reduce school bussing costs.

2. Have those schools built from the same plans, and have the plans owned by the town, so as to reduce architectural costs.

3. Build round schools, so as to get the most for the construction dollar.

These ideas, as the reader can see, were for the purpose of saving tax dollars for the people of Wilmington.

A firm of architects was hired to produce new plans for the Glen Road School. The school was built, the town owning the plans, and that school cost about $400,000.

Governor Foster Furcolo thought enough about this attempt to save the people's money that he came out to Wilmington and helped to dedicate the school.

The second school was that off Boutwell Street. The same plans were used. It cost about $15,000 to adapt the plans to the site, the town owned plans.

But, before the construction was completed the Boutwell School had become a political football. People who professed themselves to be educators, and others, politicians, were raising a ruckus about the cost (to them) of Round Schools, and about anything else they could think of.

The PBC went on to the construction of the North Intermediate School. This was not planned to be a round school. It was for youngsters above the sixth grade. The same architects were used.

The controversy mounted. One of the leading opponents to the then PBC was John Brooks, a Boston newspaperman who lived near the site of the North School. Mr. Brooks became a selectman.

Somehow in the construction of that school one of the sub-contractors goofed and produced a roof that leaked. And somehow, almost incredibly, one of the bonds guaranteeing the work in the school turned out to be valueless. That bond had been guaranteed by a Rhode Island bank. It was worthless.

That leaky roof and the bond which bounced were parlayed into a political situation in which PBC members were not re-elected by the selectmen and town manager when their terms expired.

Robert Michelson, who had been the Clerk of the Works at the Denning Way Housing Project, and was at that time a Clerk of the Works for the Metropolitan District Commission became a member of the PBC. Behind Mr. Michelson was John Brooks.

Then followed for several years a series of arguments in the meetings of the Board of Selectmen. Mr. Brooks was always defending Mr. Michelson and the then Selectman Lloyd Bender had words to say about the PBC and its purpose. The two men clashed often.

In retrospect some of it was funny. Mr. Brooks would make a remark. Mr. Bender would counter with another remark. Brooks would get upset and start waving a finger under Bender's nose, as he ticked off his points. Bender would interrupt to tell Brooks to pull back his finger "or I'll bite it off!"

Finally the fighting died off. Mr. Brooks and Mr. Bender have been since then, better friends.

For the past twelve years, approximately, Mr. Michelson has been the most active person in the PBC. Others would have little to do, because he often had the work done. It was a position which made him popular with his fellow members. At the same time he was always unanimously re-elected, every three years, by the Selectmen and Town Manager. There might be persons who had reasons for not wanting to vote for him, but vote for him they did. Now he has resigned.

Undoubtedly there will be changes. How much, and of what tenor is yet to be developed.

The big project at this time is a proposed High School, off Salem Street, near the "Wildcat" railroad. There are many problems, having to do with drainage, and the modern concept of ecology, among other things. There are many persons who are opposed, for various reasons, to a high school, or to a school at that site.

And, for the first time in a dozen years someone other than Robert Michelson will be the deciding person, in the PBC.

Learning Disability talk
next Thursday at Library

Juanita Jackson, Wilmington's Kindergarten director will be the guest speaker of the Wilmington Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (ACLD) on Thursday November 21st at 8 pm in the conference room of the Wilmington Memorial Library.

Mrs. Jackson's topic for the evening will be early detection of learning problems and the methods of remediation being used at the kindergarten level.

Attending with Mrs. Jackson will be Florence Athanasia who is in charge of kindergarten testing and Norma Rushton, who is in charge of health services for the kindergartens.

After Mrs. Jackson explains the overall program for detecting learning problems those attending the meeting will have an opportunity to meet in small groups with the three specialists.

ACLD, "the advocates for children with special needs" believes that early detection and treatment of learning difficulties is a vital part of the special needs program and urges all parents to attend this interesting and informative meeting.

Same street names causes tragedy

The Tewksbury Jaycees and town firefighters have earned the selectmen's support to study many streets in Tewksbury that have the same names.

Several accepted or unaccepted ways in the town bear the same or similar names, and fire engines, police cars and ambulances have gone to the wrong addresses several times as a result of callers not identifying the location of their street. Several lives have been lost as a result.

The Jaycees and firefighters are then vote the change plan to contact residents of 25 streets with the same or similar names and ask them to consider supporting a name change for their streets.

To change the name of a street, selectmen must hold a public hear-

Jaycees who asked the selectmen's support included President Arthur Clark, Director Jerry DeVer, and members Anthony Ciavaglia and Charles E. Coldwell.

The Russian People have something to be proud of WHITMAN PEARSON COMES HOME. The First Headmaster of Tewksbury High School (1935-1946) at the Rotary meeting of the Northwinds-Penna. Club last Thursday. To the left, kindly visible, is his relative Bailey Trull, and to the right is Elmer Trull, also a relative.

Whitman Pearson doesn't blame the people of Russia for being proud of their country. If he were a Russian he too would be proud of that country. Pearson told the Tewksbury Rotary Club last Thursday. Mr. Pearson is an old friend of many people in Tewksbury, having taught in the High School for many years prior to World War II.

Some people would say that Whitman Pearson, because he reports what he sees, is a radical. One of his favorite statements concerns the Socialism practiced in Russia.

It works, he says. Socialism in Russia is achieving a way of life for the people of that country of which they can be proud.

Pearson has a sort of scorn for some of the newspaper reporters and other commentators who visit Russia, and then report what they saw in the United States press, and on TV. Some of those reporters, he told the Tewksbury Rotarians, didn't even know what city they were in, in Russia.

Russia, and some of the satellite countries, to Pearson, is a Great Society which deserves to be studied and understood. "You can call me a radical, if you please," he said last Thursday, "but I am reporting what I saw, and what I learned."

He has made several trips to Russia, travelled through Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, and across Siberia from Vladivostok to Moscow.

Poland, to him, was a country of wonders. There were many American citizens there, who had retired in the country of their birth. The people liked their country, and their leadership. And the girls - Pearson told of them leaving their homes in the morning to go to the office, in such places as Poznan, and he thought they looked as good if not better than the girls one sees in offices in the United States.

Pearson is not only a long-time teacher in Tewksbury, he is oriented to this part of the country. He is a descendant of the Wilmington Pearson family, and Major Aaron Pearson of that town, a veteran of the War of 1812, is one of his ancestors. He is also related to other families - the Whitman family of Lowell, and to Benjamin Butler, the Lowell lawyer who became a Major General in the Civil War and later a Governor of Massachusetts.

A man who has traveled around the world four times, who has been an educator in many countries, he is now a professional lecturer. He spent five hours on the radio, Station WEEI, recently, speaking of what he saw in Russia and answering telephone calls, not all of which were friendly.

He now lives in Pelham, N.H.

St. Thomas Christmas Bazaar Committee

ST. THOMAS CHRISTMAS BAZAAR COMMITTEE: Front, l. to r.: Mrs. Mary Centello, Mary Morris, Mary Whitney, Ella Kane, Julie Morris, Mary Martyn. Rear, l. to r.: Theresa Michaud, Mary Ellen Taylor, Lorraine Hanna, Anne Quinn, Connie Law, Ruth D'Entremont, Marsha Hancock. Elda Radochin is in the rear.

The St. Thomas Annual Christmas Bazaar will be held on Saturday, November 23rd. The doors will open at 10:00 a.m.

There will be a Pantry Shoppe featuring the usual delightful choices of home-made foods; the Stitchery Shoppe, with knitted, crocheted and home-sewn items from the hands of our talented ladies; a wide variety of Attic Treasures, and an imaginative assortment of Holiday Arts and Crafts that will appeal to everyone. This year you will also find "living" gifts and decorations of plants and flowers at the Jolly Green Thumb Shoppe, and money-saving fashions for all in-home-owned clothing at the Thrift Shoppe.

There will be refreshments served all day in the Tea Room, and there will be games and prizes for youngsters of all ages. The Grand Drawing at 8:00 p.m. will feature prizes of grocery orders, turkeys and a fruit basket.

The Committee has worked hard and long, and used talent and imagination to give Wilmington the spirit of sharing a little joy and the opportunity of giving the unusual gift, at a very nominal price. Come early and stay late.

Wilmington Youth Hockey

Mike A (4-3-1)...Last Sunday in a fast skating up and down hockey game the Mites lost to Wenham, 3-2.

First period action saw Wilmington go in front on a goal by Paul Brady, assisted by J. Newhouse with Wenham tying it up to end the period.

Wenham scored again in the second period to go out in front. In the third period Wenham scored their winning goal and Wilmington's Kevin Sullivan lit the lamp unassisted to close out the scoring.

The next game will be played at the Wilmington Youth Ice Arena at 6:10 pm on Monday, November 18th with Stoneham providing the opposition.

Mike A...The Mites lost their first game in the Saugus league to a battling Billerica team 2-0. Wilmington outshot Billerica 22-12.

The next game will be played Saturday, November 16th at 1 pm at Saugus with Melrose providing the opposition.

Mike B (6-1-1)...The B's unleashed with 17 assists as they beat North Reading 12-0. The B's scored five goals in the first period followed by four in the second and three in the third.

Goals were credited to: Richards, Oikle, Rogers, Taylor, Berger, Fuller, Dunnett and Fuller. Assists went to: Fuller, Buzzell, Walden, Oikle, Robinson, Palmer, Richards, Taylor and Richter.

The defensive unit held North Reading to two shots on net as goalie Brian Surrette posted his fourth shutout. Excellent defensive work by Dean Collarusso and Eric Marshall combined with the corner work of Stephen Russo completed the team effort.

In the previous week the B's beat Burlington 1-0 on a late third period goal by Peter Oikle assisted by David Buzzell.

Squirt A (7-1-6)...Coaches Don MacDonald and Frank Newark's boys continue to win. Last week the Squirts defeated Reading in a close two to one game.

Both goals came in the second period off the stick of Darryl MacDonald with assists going to Frankie Newark.

In this week's contest Wilmington downed Danvers 4-1. Ronnie Greenberg opened the scoring in the first period assisted by Bobby Williams and Jeff Stouffer. With only seconds left in the second period defenseman George Boudreau lit the lamp from the point assisted by Billy Robinson.

Danvers came back in the third period to make it two to one. It was short lived as Darryl MacDonald hit the mark unassisted. To put the frosting on the win George Boudreau hit the net for his second, assisted by Ronnie Greenberg.

The fine goaltending of Danvers goalie Jim Mercer held Wilmington from a much higher score. Equal to their task were Wilmington's goalies Jeff Lux and Scott Wallace.

The next game will be played against Wakefield on Sunday, November 17th at 10:30 am at the WYIA.

Squirt B's (7-4-8)...The Squirt B's maintained their tie with Chelmsford for first place as they defeated the Stoneham Squirts 4-2. Wilmington had to fight from behind twice before eventually going into the lead to a victory.

Bob Curran scored twice, the first one on a beautiful passing setup from John Giroux and Bob Marzolini, and his second on a long shot from an unassisted goal and the game winner. Bob Magliozzi scored twice, his first on a single-handed effort to tie the game at 2-2 and his last following a perfect setup from Ray Durling and John LaLiberte.

Although he did not figure in the scoring, Chris Turner's outstanding two way effort contributed heavily to the victory. All six defensemen stood their ground and although the B's were outshot 18-14, they kept the Stoneham shooters on the outside to ease the pressure on the goalies.

The B's face a strong Reading I team in next Sunday's league game.

Pee Wee B's (3-4-8)...Dick Gunn's Pee Wee B's scored a big win last Saturday afternoon at the Youth Ice Arena by beating the previously undefeated Wakefield Pee Wee's by a shutout score of 2-0. Their record is now 3-4-0.

The first period goal was scored by Wilmington's Michael Sullivan assisted by Keith MacDonald. The second period tally came off the stick of Keith MacDonald assisted by Michael Sullivan and Sean O'Donoghue.

Solid checking work by the whole team led by Keith Young and Jay Duffy resulted in a shutout with fine goaltending.

Pee Wee B's II's...Coach Gunn's Gangsters, Pee Wee B's II's defeated Wenham 3-2 Saturday at the Wilmington Youth Ice Arena, giving them their third straight win.

The first period goal came off the stick of Sean O'Donoghue assisted by Keith MacDonald. In the second period Jamie Shepard lit the lamp assisted by Scott Richards and Terry Desmond. Wenham came back to score two goals in the second period tying the game.

The winning goal was scored by Scott Richards in the third period. Scott was assisted by Mike Moran. The Pee Wee B's II's, with a record of 4-4-0 will take on Tewksbury at 8:15 am next Saturday.

Bantam A (6-4-1)...The Bantam A's kept their undefeated streak alive last Thursday against Peabody.

Wilmington was shut out in the first period and Peabody scored twice.

It was 4:15 of the second period when Brian Tighe scored the first Wilmington goal on an unassisted rush from his own end, but Peabody retaliated by closing the period with a third goal.

The third stanza was a hair-raiser. 6:54 into the period Mike Carlin scored on a pass from Bill Blaisdell, preceded by good hustle on their part, in forechecking and beating Peabody to the puck.

It looked like a first defeat for Wilmington, but with only 18 seconds left on the clock and an empty net behind, Brian Tighe was fed a perfect pass by Eddie Sheehan, which he drove home for the tie. Goalie Joe Iozzo turned aside 12 of Peabody's 15 shots.

The following night the team traveled to Stoneham. In an impressive win the scored six goals with Stoneham retaliating only twice.

Goal scorers were: Mike Carlin two, Todd Richards two and one apiece by Tom Gracia and Bill Blaisdell, both goal tenders. Joe Iozzo and George Ravagni turned in a fine performance in the net.

The next game will be played against North Reading on Thursday, Nov. 14th (tonight) at 8:20 pm.

TACKS, RECS EXTEND LOSING SKELNS

Nashua, N.H....Following last Saturday's round of games in the Merrimack Valley Girls' Hockey League both area clubs are deadlocked for fourth place along with the Hudson Kitty-Hawks. In the lid lifter at the Gardens, Hudson white-washed Tewksbury, 3-0, while in the nite esp., Nashua topped Wilmington, 6-3.

In the middle contest Chelmsford moved into second place with a convincing 7-3 triumph over Shawheen.

Hudson gained their initial win of the season as they put together a fine team effort while handing Coach Doherty's Tacks their fourth straight loss. Goalie Patty Barlow played another strong game in the Tewksbury nets and the club played better in spurts and this should auger well for the ensuing games.

The defending champion Leaflets jumped out to a quick 3-0 lead in the opening three minutes in their contest with the Rees.

Right winger Joan Welch tallied twice in the closing minutes of the stanza to bring the Wilmington girls closer. Cheryl Cushing assisted on both Rees' tallies, while Lisa Pellerin gained a helper on the initial goal.

Janet Carlton tied the score at 3-3 of the middle frame when her centering pass was deflected into the Nashua goal by Leaflets defense person Debbie Rodman.

The tie did not last long though as Sara Rolfe put Nashua back in front to stay at 4:49 of the stanza.

The Leaflets scored two unanswered goals in the last frame to provide the final margin of victory. Cathy Bristol stopped 29 Leaflet shots in a sterling net minding performance. The Rees were out shot 35-13 in the contest and if it were not for the brilliant goal tending the outcome may have been much worse.

This Saturday evening the Rees and Tacks face-off at 6:15 in the middle game of three game slate at Nashua Gardens.

Andover is MVC Champ

Wilmington-Billerica tie 14-14

The Merrimack Valley championship was decided last Saturday, when the Golden Knights of Andover defeated a tough Dracut team 41-14. It was Andover's third championship in recent years.

Wilmington, Saturday, came up with its third tie score in as many games, when Bob Bavota tied Billerica 14-14 in the next to final play of the game, at Billerica. Billerica's Harlow missed a field goal, from the 41 yard line, for the final play, that held the fans in their seats until the last moment.

Bob Bavota was the outstanding back of the game. He scored all of Wilmington's points, and toted the ball for 121 yards in 21 carries. Billerica's Tony Falito, one of the top backs in the MVC carried for a total of 108 yards in 25 carries.

Billerica scored first, in the second quarter with an eight yard quarterback pass to Jim Wronski, after an impressive march from the Billerica forty. Harlow kicked the point.

Wilmington, in the last minutes of the period regained on downs in the center of the field, and on the third play a pass interference call put Wilmington deep in Billerica territory. Bavota, then, on his third try crossed the line, but a rush for an extra two points failed.

Billerica scored in the third quarter, with Falito doing most of the running and Russo making the one yard pass to Wronski which made the TD. The PAT was by Harlow.

Wilmington tied in the last quarter. Mike Marzola, defensive end, intercepted in the last three minutes on the Billerica 29. Billerica had a stubborn defense, but on the fourth play Bavota went down the left side to the Indians right, and a first down. A pass to Marzola brought the ball to the two yard line, and Bavota hit the paydirt, and then rushed another two points, to tie the score.

Three Official Map hearings by selectmen

Wilmington's Board of Selectmen, acting as an Official Map Board of Appeals, turned down one application and granted two for the rights to build homes, Monday night.

James J. Rooney, well known Wilmington person, was applying for the right to erect a home on Oxford Street, in East Wilmington. The land involved was about two acres in extent, and belonged to Mildred McNeil of Gloucester. There was no difficulty with the selectmen.

The second area was for a 30,000 square foot lot of land, off Amburst Road. It was owned by Joseph Conney of North Billerica and Richard Stuart of Shawheen Avenue wanted to buy it, for the purpose of building a home.

There was no difficulty, but ultimately the selectmen granted their approval.

The third case involved land off the former Swain Road, now Congress Street, on a way known as Swain Court. It belongs to Robert Stevens, of Winchester.

Mr. Stevens had appeared before the Wilmington Board of Appeals trying to establish house lots out of the same land several years ago. At that time he was opposed by Danny Gills, now a selectman, because, Mr. Gills said, the house lots in question actually face on Randolph Road, and that is a non-existent way.

The name of Robert Stevens was not unknown to the selectmen. "Aren't you," asked Chairman Miceli, "the same person who build all those houses on fifty foot lots?"

Stevens admitted that such was the case.

LEE CHISHOLM, JR.: Landscape architect, presenting his case to the Wilmington Board of Selectmen.

The selectmen refused the request, on the ground that there wasn't a sufficient way for the proposed house lots.

Lee Chisholm Jr., son of Lee Chisholm of Andover Street had nice plans and a good story, but did not get permission to excavate gravel from a hilly lot he owns near Foster's Pond. Several of the Foster's Pond Association members were present to oppose Mr. Chisholm.

Mr. Chisholm lives in Connecticut, and is planning to move back to Wilmington. He, and his wife too, are landscape architects, and he told the selectmen, in a carefully reasoned argument, that he wished to establish a planting area for trees and shrubs, on the lot, which is 400 feet easterly from Andover Street.

The gravel in the hill, he told the Selectmen, was Hinckley Gravel. That is a gravel that drains well, and is not prone to support wildlife. He wanted to remove the Hinckley gravel, to get down to a finer clay, where he could grow the plants he wanted.

The gravel, he said, would be removed over a temporary right-of-way through the Sciarappa Farm.

His proposal for excavation was beside that of Mr. DeLoury, who has an agreement with the Foster's Pond Association.

The selectmen were impressed, but not enough to grant a gravel permit. Mike Cairns allowed that some other time he might vote for such a request.

Wilmington LWV land use units

The League of Women Voters of Wilmington will hold national consensus units on land use Tuesday, November 19th at the home of Dolores Marshall 255 Lowell Street. The unit will be repeated Wednesday at 8 pm at Shirley Callan's home, 571 Woburn Street.

Under the topic Land Use: Can We Keep Public and Private Rights in Balance? members will determine those positions we will active support nationally. The issues include goals in land use planning, time role of national, state, regional and local governments in land use decisions and how to resolve land use conflicts such as those now arising as we try to meet our energy needs. Anyone eighteen years or older is invited to attend these units and inquire about league membership.
